CALIFORNIA RESIDENTS

If you reside in the State of California when you visitor use our Services, this portion of this policy applies to you. We adopt this notice to comply with the California Consumer Privacy Act of 2018 (“CCPA”) and other California privacy laws. Any terms defined in the CCPA have the same meaning when used in this notice.

Information We Collect

We collect information that identifies, relates to, describes, references, is capable of being associated with, or could reasonably be linked, directly or indirectly, with a particular consumer or device. In particular, we collect the following categories of personal information: Identifiers like your name, address, Internet Protocol address and/or email address, phone number, financial information, age, citizenship, disabilities, gender and/or veteran status as well as your access history and information related to your interaction with our Services.

We obtain the categories of personal information listed above from the following categories of sources:

- Directly from our clients or their agents. For example, from information our clients provide to us related to the Services for which they engage us.
- Directly from you. For example, through information we ask from you when our clients or their agents subscribe and engage our Services.
- Directly and indirectly from you when using our Services or visiting our website. For example, usage details collected automatically in the course of your interaction with our platform or website.

Use of Personal Information

We may use or disclose the personal information we collect for one or more of the following business purposes:

- To fulfill or meet the reason for which the information is provided. For example, to connect influencers and businesses and facilitate services and payment.
- To provide you with email alerts and other notices concerning our Services, or updates to your insurance application process.
- To improve our Services to you.
- For testing, research, analysis and product development.
- As necessary or appropriate to protect the rights, property or safety of us, our clients or others.
- To respond to law enforcement requests and as required by applicable law, court order, or governmental regulations.
- As described to you when collecting your personal information or as otherwise set forth in the CCPA.
- To evaluate or conduct a merger, divestiture, restructuring, reorganization, dissolution, or other sale or transfer of some or all of our assets, whether as a going concern or as part of bankruptcy, liquidation, or similar proceeding, in which personal information held by us is among the assets transferred.

We will not collect additional categories of personal information or use the personal information we collected for materially different, unrelated, or incompatible purposes without providing you notice.

Sharing Personal Information

We may disclose your personal information to a third party for a business purpose. When we disclose personal information for a business purpose, we enter a contract that describes the purpose and requires the recipient to both keep that personal information confidential and not use it for any purpose except performing the contract. We disclose your personal information for a business purpose to the following categories of third parties:

- Business users of our Services or their agents for which you have engaged in a business contract;
- Service providers that help us provide the Services to you;
- Third parties to whom you or your agents authorize us to disclose your personal information in connection with our Services.

Your Rights and Choices

The CCPA provides California residents with specific rights regarding their personal information. This section describes your CCPA rights and explains how to exercise those rights.

Access to Specific Information and Data Portability Rights

You have the right to request that we disclose certain information to you about our collection and use of your personal information over the past 12 months. Once we receive and confirm your verifiable consumer request, we will disclose to you:

- The categories of personal information we collected about you.
- Our business or commercial purpose for collecting that personal information.
- The categories of third parties with whom we share that personal information.
- The specific pieces of personal information we collected about you (also called a data portability request).

Deletion Request Rights

You have the right to request that we delete any of your personal information we collected from you and retained, subject to certain exceptions. Once we receive and confirm your verifiable consumer request, we will delete (and direct our service providers to delete) your personal information from our records, unless an exception applies.

We may deny your deletion request if retaining the information is necessary for us or our service providers to:

1. Complete the transaction for which we collected the personal information, provide a good or service that you requested, take actions reasonably anticipated within the context of our ongoing business relationship with you, or otherwise perform our contract with you.
2. Detect security incidents, protect against malicious, deceptive, fraudulent, or illegal activity, or prosecute those responsible for such activities.

3. Debug products to identify and repair errors that impair existing intended functionality.
4. Exercise free speech, ensure the right of another consumer to exercise their free speech rights, or exercise another right provided for by law.
5. Comply with the California Electronic Communications Privacy Act (Cal. Penal Code § 1546 seq.).
6. Engage in public or peer-reviewed scientific, historical, or statistical research in the public interest that adheres to all other applicable ethics and privacy laws, when the information's deletion may likely render impossible or seriously impair the research's achievement, if you previously provided informed consent.
7. Enable solely internal uses that are reasonably aligned with consumer expectations based on your relationship with us.
8. Comply with a legal obligation.
9. Make other internal and lawful uses of that information that are compatible with the context in which you provided it.

Exercising Access, Data Portability, and Deletion Rights

To exercise the access, data portability, and deletion rights described above, please submit a verifiable consumer request to us by email at bread.development.team@gmail.com

Only you or a person registered with the California Secretary of State that you authorize to act on your behalf, may make a verifiable consumer request related to your personal information. You may also make a verifiable consumer request on behalf of your minor child.

You may only make a verifiable consumer request for access or data portability twice within a 12-month period. The verifiable consumer request must:

- Provide sufficient information that allows us to reasonably verify you are the person about whom we collected personal information or an authorized representative.
- Describe your request with sufficient detail that allows us to properly understand, evaluate, and respond to it.

We cannot respond to your request or provide you with personal information if we cannot verify your identity or authority to make the request and confirm the personal information relates to you. Making a verifiable consumer request does not require you to create an account with us. We will only use personal information provided in a verifiable consumer request to verify the requestor's identity or authority to make the request.

Response Timing and Format

We endeavor to respond to a verifiable consumer request within 30 days of its receipt. If we require more time (up to 90 days), we will inform you of the reason and extension period in writing. If you have an account with us, we will deliver our written response to the registered email associated with the account. If you do not have an account with us, we will deliver our written response by mail or electronically, at your option. Any disclosures we provide will only cover the 12-month period preceding the verifiable consumer request's receipt. The response we provide will also explain the reasons we cannot comply with a request, if applicable. For data portability requests, we will select a format to provide your personal information that is readily useable and should allow you to transmit the information from one entity to another entity without hindrance.

We do not charge a fee to process or respond to your verifiable consumer request unless it is excessive, repetitive, or manifestly unfounded. If we determine that the request warrants a fee, we will tell you why we made that decision and provide you with a cost estimate before completing your request.

CANADA

If your use of the Services is subject to Canadian law, this portion of this policy applies to you. We are committed to protecting your information through our compliance with Canada's Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act "PIPEDA".

What kinds of information do we collect?

We collect data that is necessary and relevant provide the Services, colloquially: "connecting influencers and businesses." Examples of data that may be collected are data that relate specifically to your business and transaction history and other other personal identifying information.

Why do we collect your data?

We collect data about you at your request and to facilitate the Services. For example, when you login and fill out proposed gig information or communicate with other users on our platform we store that information so that you and they can access this information in future.

How do we use the information we collect?

We use data about your site visit to deliver meaningful, contextual, and time-saving experiences. For example, when you enter data in one form that can be used in other forms, we automatically populate this data into all forms for your convenience and ease. When we collect data about what kind of device you are using, which browser, what OS you are using, or which pages you visit on the platform; we use this data for analytics and to diagnose any Customer Service issues you may have.

How is this information shared?

Currently, this information is shared only between us, you and your partners who use the Services. Additionally, we do have third-party analytics tools that gather data about your site experience; we use information about your site experience to develop new products and features.

What technologies are used for data?

- Spring as a Java web-framework as back-end technology
- Flutter as a cross-platform mobile technology as front-end technology
- PostgreSQL as a database for data persistence
- Redis as caching service
- Apache Solr to quickly retrieve data
- Google Cloud Platform (“GCP”) for all application services implementing the business logic

How do you protect and secure my data?

We use the GCP to provide a secure and reliable cloud environment for our software. The network access is restricted on an as-needed basis and all network communication occurs over secure SSL/TLS. We do not store your passwords in plain text. We encrypt all passwords with the bcrypt algorithm, which prevents decryption. We perform server-side logging of all interactions with our services for security and errors and omissions (“E&O”) purposes.

When and how do you destroy data?

Users may terminate their account upon request. Following such termination, the application uses the data obfuscation process to redact all sensitive and/or personal data making it unidentifiable.

International / US Data Consent

By working with us, your data is subject to US jurisdiction and all applicable laws. One specific law, the US Patriot ACT, gives the US government the ability to request metadata and personal data but only if there is reasonable suspicion that is based on specific facts. By using the Services, you understand that your personal data could be queried by the US Government if there is reasonable suspicion of any nature of the violation(s).

What if I don’t want to give consent?

You will not be able to use the Services.

How can I access all of the data about me that you store?

You can gain access to your information either by logging into the Services or by letting us know you’d like access to your information via bread.development.team@gmail.com

What if I want to file a complaint?

If you would like to file a complaint please email our Privacy Officer directly at bread.development.team@gmail.com and include all relevant details. Our Privacy Officer will acknowledge receipt of your complaint and reply to your complaint within 30 days. You also have the right to complain directly to the Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada about any alleged breaches of the law.

What is the expected response time if I file a complaint?

If you submit a complaint to us we will respond back to you within 30 days.
